The "What's the Worst That Could Happen?" Prompt:

- Setup: Describe a mundane scenario (e.g., waiting for the bus, ordering coffee).
- Prompt: Ask the AI, "What's the WEIRDEST thing that could happen right now?"
- Example: "I'm waiting for the dentist. What's the WEIRDEST thing that could happen before my name is called?"

The "Expert Witness" Prompt:

- Setup: Invent a ridiculous topic (e.g., the history of rubber duckies, the emotional lives of houseplants).
- Prompt: Tell the AI they are a world-renowned expert on this topic being interviewed on a serious news program.

The "Object Conversation" Prompt:

- Setup: Pick two random objects in your vicinity.
- Prompt: Have the AI initiate a conversation between the objects, giving them distinct personalities.
- Example: "My stapler and my coffee mug are having a heated argument. What are they arguing about?"

The "Genre Swap" Prompt:

- Setup: Start a scene with a classic improv scenario (e.g., stuck in an elevator, first date).
- Prompt: Midway through, tell the AI to drastically change the genre of the scene (e.g., from romantic comedy to sci-fi thriller, from historical drama to musical).
- Example: "We're on a tropical island searching for buried treasure... WAIT! Now it's a romantic musical about two rival bakers."

The "Time Traveler's Advice" Prompt:

- Setup: Describe a simple action you are about to do (e.g., going grocery shopping, sending a text message).
- Prompt: Tell the AI that a time traveler from the future has appeared with an urgent message about this action. They can only communicate through cryptic clues and warnings.
- Example: "I'm about to send this text message. Suddenly, a time traveler bursts in, shouting, 'Beware the emojis! Choose wisely, for the fate of humanity depends on it!'"
